F-Senate faces vote on Leasure

The Faculty Senate will meet Tuesday to vote on whether to approve Keith Leasure as vice president for academic affairs for next year.

A report describing Leasure's performance as "arbitrary, autocratic, inequitable, and inconsistent" will be read to the assembly at 1:30 p.m. in the Student Center Mississippi Room.

The report centers on Leasure's handling of faculty terminations in December, and was authored by the senate's Faculty Status and Welfare Committee. A lack of "meaningful faculty input" in the firings was sharply criticized by the committee.

Leasure's haste, the report says, not only destroyed long-standing and important academic programs at SIU, but also played havoc with the University's affirmative action program. The report charges Leasure has let affirmative action problems accumulate to the point where the University may lose up to $6 million in federal aid because of faculty treatment.

Meddling with faculty contracts, interfering with search committees, and failing for one year to appoint faculty grievance panels are among the other criticisms leveled in the lengthy report.

The senate will vote on whether it favors Leasure continuing his job after June 30, when his appointment is up. The senate is also expected to pass a statement requesting Acting SIU President Hiram Lesar to consult with it before appointing another academic vice president.

The report is backed up by copies of memos and correspondence related to the 104 terminations and other matters. The senate started gathering evidence in January to support its censure of the former David R. Derge administration.

The special meeting was called so the senate can decide on Leasure before the Board of Trustees meeting Thursday. Copies of senate actions will be forwarded to the board.

The committee helping terminated teachers will present a progress report to the meeting. John King, department chairman in higher education, heads the committee, which maintained its recommendations that the tenured teachers who were fired should be rehired and the lawsuit against the 104 be dropped.

Lesar will address the senate, but there has been no report of the subject of his talk.

Bakalis named first choice in poll for SIU president

Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis was the first choice of campus voters in Thursday's election for the next SIU president.

Election Commissioner Ralph Rosynek said Monday the top five vote-getters in the election were Bakalis with 94, Dean of Students Bruce Swinburne with 76, Buckminster Fuller with 71, instructor George Mace with 68 and Acting President Hiram Lesar with 52.

Twenty names, the top vote-getters in an April write-in election, appeared on the ballot.

Rosynek said he sent a letter to Search Committee Chairman Willis Malone Monday requesting the five top choices be seriously considered for the presidential post. Rosynek also notified the five men of their recognition.

"Bakalis said he was 'very pleased' that he was the first choice in the election."

"I'm very flattered and honored that there are some people at Southern who think I could do the job," Bakalis said.

He said he feels SIU is a fine university and could become even greater under the right leadership.

"As I've said many times before, I think it would be an honor and a challenge to be president of Southern," Bakalis said.

He said he has been made aware of some of the problems of SIU through his

S-Senate okays JFAB report; BAC, WIDB, others suffer cuts

By Brenda Penland
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

After more than three hours of debate, the Student Senate voted to approve the Joint Fee Allocation Board (JFAB) report at a special session Saturday.

The JFAB report had been tabled three times at previous Senate meetings.

By its action, the Senate cut the Black Affairs Council from $20,000 for the 1973-74 fiscal year to a recommended $12,000 for 1974-75.

Other groups which objected to their recommended allocations are student radio station WIDB, the Illinois Public Interest Research Group (IPIRG) and the Student Environmental Center (SEC).

The JFAB recommendations are for funding during the fiscal year 1974-75. The allocations recommended by the board are:

Graduate Student Council, $25,000.
Undergraduate Student Government, $31,050.

Priority One Groups: Student Government Activities Council, $51,914; Student Radio Station WIDB, $14,000.

Priority Two Groups: Illinois Public Interest Research Group, $6,000; Black Affairs Council, $12,000; Inter Greek Council, $8,500; Lectures and entertainment, $8,000; Agriculture Students Advisory Board, $3,500; International Student Council, $5,620; Southern Illinois Film Society, $2,250; and Southern Illinois Veterans Association, $4,000.

Plus, Art Students League, $2,500; Committee to Defend the Right to Speak, $500; Student Environmental Center, $2,000; Student Tenant Union, $3,000; Southern Illinois Dames Society, $275; Interpreter's Theater, $1,500; Interfaith Council, $500; Mobilization of Volunteer Effort (MOVE), $800; and Married Students' Activities, $500.

Priority Three Groups: Feminist Action Coalition, $1,250; Gay Liberation $250. Kol Shalom, $2,500; and Uhura Sa Sa, $4,500.

Groups recommended for "no funding" are: Student Health Advisory Commission, Gung-Ho Group of the Church of Scientology, Southern Lat Theatre, Engineering Club and Physical Education majors.

Groups objecting to their allocation were allowed to state their objections at Saturday's session.

Gary Goldblatt, program director of WIDB, said the station needs more money because it is expanding to a 12 month operation instead of operating only nine months.

Lyle Williams of IPIRG said the group needs an increased allocation in order to make its views known.

He said the group has to buy advertisements to inform students of IPIRG findings.

Jeff Kolp, president of the SEC objected to his group being cut from $3,500 to $2,000.

"Other groups receive massive budgets," Kolp said. "Boy, if we had that we could clean up SIU from top to bottom."

The report was approved as submitted with the exception of two amendments.

The first amendment called for $4,000 of the Student Government Activities Council (SGAC) allocation to be specified for use by the video committee.

The second amendment recommended taking $3,044 from the Self-propelled Outdoor Recreation Fund (SPORF) to be placed in the Student Government Special Projects budget.

The senate also passed a resolution supporting expanded health care service. This included approval of the reallocation of $10 of the present Student Welfare and Recreation (SWARF) fund to the Student Medical Benefit Fee.

In other business, the senate approved a change in the fee structure. This calls for multiplying the present fees by 1.5 to convert the fees to the semester system.

Police association approves city contract

By Dan Haar
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale Police Officers Association and the city have agreed to a contract allowing a 6.2 per cent wage increase for policemen.

The Friday afternoon agreement was reached when the association resumed negotiations with the city after talks deadlocked April 25. The contract is retroactive to May 4 as the effective date.

The new contract has received approval of the police association and the City Council.

The contract is a compromise between the police and the city. Policemen will receive the hazard pay they requested but will not get the $10,000 life insurance policy for each policeman.

A binding arbitration clause sought by the association was not included in the contract.

Besides the 6.2 per cent wage increase, about a third of the police force will be eligible for merit pay of 2 per cent.

Merit pay will be given to officers annually evaluated in the top third of all policemen. Designation of those to receive the merit pay is up to police chief.

Under the contract, policemen are guaranteed a year's salary if injured in the line of duty. The one-year sum would be paid when an officer has already received his sick-leave and vacation pay.

Under the old contract, injured officers were paid for sick leave and vacations and then received workmen's compensation pay which was lower than the salary amount.

City Manager Carroll Fry, announcing the agreement Monday, said the settlement will not require any extra money for the police budget.

Fry said the wage increases and merit pay have already been included in the police salary budget.

The association had asked for a 7 per cent wage increase and a 10 per cent difference in pay between patrolmen and corporals and sergeants and corporals. A five per cent difference in pay between specialists and patrolmen was also requested.

Before the police association met with city officials Friday, the requests for differences in pay, life insurance provisions and inclusion of the department's four lieutenants in the police association were dropped.

The association reduced its request for a seven per cent increase to a 6.2 per cent. Merit and hazard earnings were the main benefits the police sought Friday.

Contract with police gets approval by city council

By Dan Haar
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

The Carbondale City Council approved a contract between the city and the Police Officers Association allowing a 6.2 per cent wage increase for policemen.

Council action followed a tentative agreement which was made Friday afternoon when the association resumed negotiations after a week deadlock.

City Manager Carroll Fry, recommending the contract's approval, stressed that the settlement was within the budget and would not require extra money.

"We feel it is a settlement with which the city can live," Fry said. He said the contract would not require layoffs of present personnel but would not allow the filling of three vacancies in the department.

Council members unanimously approved the contract. The policemen have been working under the provisions of their old contract since it expired May 1. Negotiations on the new contract had been going on for five months.

In other action, council members decided to delay any decision on making a stand on proposed gas and electric rate increases by Central Illinois Public Service (CIPS).

The council had been notified by the Illinois Commerce Commission that the initial hearing on the requested rate hikes would be held on May 15 in Springfield.

The council members said they would need more information, including the amount of the rate increases, before they could make any stand on the matter.

The council asked that CIPS provide a summary concerning the rate increase request.

A contract between SIU and the city was also approved by the council. It guarantees that the SIU Health Service will be reimbursed $50 for each ambulance run made in the city. Normally, the person who uses the ambulance would pay for the cost. Since SIU now offers ambulance service to the city, the city has promised that it will be paid for each run in the city.

The actual cost of each run to the city depends on how much the person who uses the service pays. Mayor Neal Eckert said the cost was too high but that the city was already committed to providing the service.

"One of the problems in the city and the county is that there are not standards for ambulance service," Eckert said. He added that it seemed the county would not do anything to help the matter.

The contract also provides that the city buy an ambulance. Seventy per cent of the ambulance's cost would be provided by a state grant. The purchase of the ambulance will not be approved until the state grant is approved.

Council members also held another public hearing on the 1974-75 operating budget for the city. The hearing held at last week's meeting was not valid because notice was not given soon enough. No one spoke at the hearing and the budget was again unanimously approved.

Kissinger to meet with Gromyko on war in Mid-East

JERUSALEM (AP)—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko have arranged to meet Tuesday on the island of Cyprus to discuss their search for an end to the war on the Israeli-Syrian front.

Plans for the meeting were announced in Moscow and by a State Department spokesman traveling with Kissinger. Ambassador Robert J. McCloskey said Kissinger and Gromyko will also confer on other East-West topics, including chances for a new treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

The meeting was announced as Kissinger started a new round of urgent negotiations with Israeli leaders to find an end to the open hostilities on the Golan front, now in their 56th day.

Chancellor Brandt resigns amidst scandals, setbacks

BONN, West Germany (AP)—Willy Brandt, plagued by a series of provincial election setbacks and a damaging spy scandal, submitted his resignation late Monday night as chancellor of West Germany.

In an official announcement, the federal press office said Brandt asked President Gustav Heinemann in a letter to name Vice Chancellor Walter Scheel as head of a caretaker government until parliament can choose a new chancellor.

Scheel also is foreign minister and leader of the Free Democrats, principal partner in the coalition government with Brandt's Social Democrats. He called off a planned Tuesday trip to Brussels.

Brandt's dramatic move followed behind-the-scenes negotiations all day Monday among Brandt, his coalition partners and the opposition parties, informants said.

Brandt's popularity had begun to wane from its high point in 1971 when he won the Nobel Peace Prize for his Ostpolitik, or efforts at accommodation with the Communist Eastern bloc.

Lately, an increasing number of West Germans have viewed Ostpolitik with displeasure. The spy scandal involving Guenter Guillaume, an aide to the chancellor, emphasized the situation.

In recent months, Brandt's Social Democrats already have suffered a series of state election setbacks. In March, they lost their majority in the important Hamburg city-state legislature.

The spy case, described by an opposition legislator as West Germany's worst in a long series of post-World War II spy affairs, broke April 24 when Guillaume was arrested and charged with spying for the East Germans.

The publisher of the "Scientific American" said the search for values must come from within rather than from the universe in a lecture Monday at the Student Center.

Gerard Piel, speaking to a group of Liberal Arts 303 students, said values are shaped from within and added, "the only purpose-forming individual in the universe is ourselves."

Piel's lecture was the second in a series sponsored by the Humanities Council in conjunction with the experimental course Liberal Arts 303. The series is being funded by the President's Academic Excellence Fund.

Speaking of "The Relevance of Science to Humanistic Concerns," Piel said an examination of the thinking process clearly establishes that science and humanities have the same process and "are shared by all who want to understand our place in life."

"There is no dichotomy between the humanities and the sciences," he said. Piel, a 1937 B.A. graduate of Harvard, served as the science editor for "Life" magazine from 1939 until 1945. He was assistant to the president of the Henry Kaiser Co. until 1948, when he joined with two colleagues in forming the magazine "Scientific American."

Piel will hold a special seminar with LA 303 students Tuesday from 9 to 11 a.m. in Davis Auditorium. The public is invited on a space-available basis.

The lecture series will conclude with a visit by O.B. Hardison of the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, D.C., May 20-21.

Senate panel labels transcripts 'suspect'; court defers action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Watergate committee said Monday the White House-released transcripts of presidential conversations "are suspect" and "neither complete nor accurate." Later in the day court action on 64 presidential tapes was postponed, indicating an accommodation may be in the works to avoid a court fight between the White House and the special Watergate prosecutor.

The Watergate committee told the U.S. Court of Appeals it still needs the five conversations subpoenaed July 23 last year despite the transcripts that cover the conversations.

Even the incomplete versions of the five conversations, the committee said, vindicate its claim that the tapes are needed "to inform the public of the extent of corruption in the executive branch."

The appeals court last week asked the committee to say whether it still needed the five conversations despite release of the transcripts.

The committee said the answer "is unequivocally and emphatically in the affirmative," and that it is essential that it have a complete and accurate account of the conversations.

"The committee should not have to perform its legislative missions on the basis of transcripts that are suspect," said the memorandum to the court.

"The public facts demonstrate that the edited versions provided the public are neither complete nor accurate."

The tapes the Senate committee seeks in its second trip to the appeals court are of Nixon conversations of Sept. 15, 1972, Feb. 28, March 13 and two on March 21, 1973.

It called attention to a note at the end of the Sept. 15 transcript that said "further conversation following unrelated to Watergate."

Said the committee:

"We know, however...that use of the IRS to investigate administration enemies such as Democratic Party chairman Lawrence O'Brien was discussed."

It said that information came from the testimony of John W. Dean III and from the reconstruction of the conversation supplied by presidential lawyer J. Fred Buzhardt.

"There also appear to be significant deletions respecting the Feb. 28 conversation," the memorandum said, calling attention to notations that material not related to presidential action was deleted.

"The committee does not know what material was deleted," the memorandum continued, "but does know that the entire tape recording of this conversation was given the special prosecutor and the House Judiciary Committee by the President without any claim that parts of the conversation were not related to their inquiries."

The five-day court postponement was on a hearing on a White House motion to quash a subpoena for the tapes. U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica moved the hearing from Wednesday to May 13.

"The continuance was granted for the purpose of facilitating discussions leading to possible compliance with the subpoena," the judge said.

White House counsel James D. St. Clair said he had asked for the extra five days "to permit the special prosecutor and myself to see whether we can come to some accommodation."

In his motion last week to halt the subpoena St. Clair had indicated that the fight might be carried to the Supreme Court.

Four states to hold primary elections

By Don McLeod
Associated Press Political Writer

The 1974 primary election season picks up momentum Tuesday when voters in Alabama, Ohio, North Carolina and Indiana choose nominees for three Senate seats and two governorships.

In addition, they will nominate candidates for 52 House seats, most of their state legislatures and various other state officials.

And after nearly a century of domination by Congress, residents of the District of Columbia will vote on whether to accept a new charter which would give them partial home rule.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was heavily favored to win renomination. State Sen. Gene McLain of Huntsville, Wallace's most active opponent, complained that Wallace wasn't really interested in being governor but has his eye on the 1976 presidential race.

Wallace acknowledged he is ready to run for president again "if I believe it's in the best interest of the people."

Others in the Alabama field included former Gov. James E. Folsom. If Wallace fails to get 50 per cent of the vote, there will be a runoff June 4.

In the Senate race, freshman incumbent James B. Allen, a Wallace ally, was favored over John Taylor to win Democratic nomination. There is no Republican candidate.

The big race in Ohio was between Sen. Howard Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn in a rematch of their 1970 contest. The polls forecast a close result.

A principal issue was financial disclosure, with each claiming he has revealed his worth and disclosed back taxes.

Metzenbaum beat Glenn in the 1970 primary, but lost in the general election to Republican Robert A. Taft Jr. He was named to the Senate by Democratic Gov. John Gilligan when Republican incumbent William Saxbe resigned to become attorney general.

Gilligan had only taken opposition in his bid for renomination. Former Gov. James J. Rhodes was opposed by state Rep. Charles Fry in a comeback bid for the GOP nomination.

North Carolina is picking nominees to succeed Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., the colorful, Bible-quoting Democratic chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, who is retiring.

Leading hopefuls among the 10 Democrats were state Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, former White House lobbyist Henry Hall Wilson and former Rep. Nick Galifianakis, the unsuccessful Democratic Senate nominee in 1972.

State Rep. William E. Stevens, brother-in-law of Rep. James T. Brophy, was favored for the GOP nomination.

Major interest in Indiana is in November's Senate race. Sen. Birch E. Bayh, the Democratic incumbent seeking a third term, and challenger Richard Lugar, Republican mayor of Indianapolis, are without opposition for nomination.

However, all eleven House incumbents were running in Indiana. In Indianapolis, former Democratic Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., was trying for a comeback against two primary rivals.

In the nation's capitol, sentiment was split over the home rule referendum with some supporters of self government attacking the charter on grounds it doesn't go far enough.

The proposed charter would take active management of the city away from congressional committees and turn it over to a new city government headed by an elected mayor and 13-member city council.

But Washington would still have less power over its own affairs than any other U.S. city. Congress would retain control over the city budget and have the right to rescind any action of the council.

A primary to pick nominees for the district's non-voting delegate to Congress was canceled when only one candidate from each recognized party entered. Incumbent delegate Walter E. Fauntroy, a Democrat, is seeking a second term.

While there have been two primaries—Illinois March 19 and Texas last Saturday—Tuesday's voting opened the season in earnest and introduced six weeks of balloting in which 20 states will choose nominees for the Nov. 5 midterm elections.

Among the upcoming contests is the Arkansas Democratic Senate primary May 28 between Sen. J. William Fulbright and Gov. Dale Bumpers.

Another interesting Senate race is the comeback bid in the May 28 Oregon primary of former Sen. Wayne Morse, a Democrat who was defeated by a thin margin in 1968 by Sen. Robert Packwood, a Republican now seeking renomination.

Letters

'Pure and simple'

To the Daily Egyptian:

On May the Daily Egyptian ran an article concerning four groups which were appealing a funding decision by JFAB which left them either penniless or with less than they had desired. At this time I wish to comment specifically on comments made by the coordinator of BAC, Edgar Philpot. Edgar get you head out of the clouds! You say the cultural difference between blacks and whites "won't allow them to enjoy the same activities." (Expletive deleted)! It seems to me that you are defeating your own political and social goals with regards to integration. To say that cultural differences are limiting program integration is just totally unreal. I fully realize that blacks have their own programs as do white. This is certainly understandable as there are in reality cultural differences. But your blanket statement saying that blacks and whites can't program together is, I believe, racist and unreal. Realizing the basic premise that both groups of people are in fact human beings living in the same country, the same state, the same county, even the same school and then saying that these two groups of human beings can't get together for programming is pure and simple (expletive deleted). It may take time. It may take meetings, meetings and then some more meetings, but I believe that if both groups actually WANT to get together for some programming then their is NOTHING in their way.

I have but a simple suggestion for Mr. Philpot; come on down to earth and check out the human aspect of civilization. This I believe is more important than the black or white aspect.

Rev. Randy Donath

How to edit

To the Daily Egyptian:

"Had Mr. Robertson read the Southern Illinoisan as carefully as he read the Daily Egyptian he would not need to ask these questions. Editor."—Reply to letter, Daily Egyptian, May 2, 1974.

Had the Daily Egyptian editor any respect for the opinions of others, he would not need to print such defensive comments. Several times during this school year letter writers have been taken to task in the "open forum" pages of the DE.

The below-signed members of the School of Journalism faculty feel that replies to letter should be used only to correct the most serious misstatements of facts, certainly not to argue with points of view expressed in letters. By no means should replies be used to defend the paper from readers' criticisms.

The editor should realize that when he publishes an editorial or editorial cartoon, he asks for replies, even criticisms, from readers. He has had his say; let the readers have theirs. Encourage letters; do not discourage them by disparaging the writers.

The pouting princelet

The pouting princelet took the only ball in the playground and went home last Wednesday night.

This time, the object of yet another temper tantrum thrown by the SIU Student Senate, was a vocal contingent of interested students, who happen to be black.

Senators—those arrogant allocators—behave as if they are the keepers of crown jewels instead of the student financial clerks they are.

The pride these squabbling senators have in themselves is unwarranted. What have they done this past year? What decisions have they made that actually represented student opinion and were beneficial to the student body?

Their feelings of self-importance drowns out the vital decisions and recommendations that cry out to be made.

The Senate has complained repeatedly this year about not enough student input or interest. Yet, when about 100 members and supporters of the Black Affairs Council attended a meeting and voiced their disapproval of a motion, the Senate hastily decided to isolate themselves.

Instead of being big boys and girls and facing up to the students' (they were elected to represent) dissatisfaction, they needed to escape. What better isolation than the Mississippi Room of the Student Center? After all, it has some class, and the senators are some form of royalty, aren't they?

So, for the fourth consecutive week, student funds, probably the only actual responsibility the Senate has, were not distributed. When more students start attending Senate meetings and voicing their opinions, the senators may have to listen because they won't be able to run away so easily.

Then, the student community may be able to live with itself happily ever after.

A time for concern

The firing of the 104 SIU tenured faculty members has caused a wave of panic and indignation in the university as well as other universities at the way tenured faculty are being treated now and may be treated in the future. Perhaps this is a good time to examine the tenured faculty's treatment of the students, what, after all, their existence here is all about.

What, from the students' point of view, is so sacred about tenure? Every student has had at least one professor who has been so tenured that his notes were yellowed and brown around the edges. Every student has had at least one professor for a course dealing with a timely, controversial, dynamic subject whose most recent cited sources dated back to the date of his tenure.

It is true that a certain amount of security is necessary to make the profession appealing to those worthy of it. But in many cases that security has been carried to such an extent that education of the students has suffered.

In too many departments the collective complacency of tenure has been the occasion for a focus on publication and dwindling stress on effective teaching. Every student has had at least one professor who was teaching only to be allowed to be paid by the university to do research here, publish and further his career.

It is true that some of society's most important research and contributions to the collective knowledge are conducted in and come out of universities. But it is also true that some of society's most gifted, spirited and intelligent young people come out of the University disillusioned, their sense of purpose lost, discouraged and with a sense of betrayal. How many of those young people couldn't have been saved by a more dynamic, interested, responsible and caring faculty. How much talent has been wasted by oblivious faculty members?

Education is what the university's business is all about. Along with their rising concern for their careers, let the faculty be more concerned about the purpose of their careers.

Foreign students take tour

SIU airport facilities studied

Nineteen aviation law students from 11 countries toured the SIU School of Aviation Technology Monday to learn some of the technical aspects of that area of law. The students, responding to an invitation from Acting SIU President Hiram Lesar, reviewed the instructional techniques, laboratories and facilities of the school. Each of the students has received his masters of law degree from McGill's Institute of Air and Space Law in Montreal, Canada.

Fred Shapiro, an SIU alumnus and one of the visiting students, said the tour was done to "expose individuals to the rapidly expanding field of aviation law which can no longer be ignored because it plays so important a role.

"Many attorneys have a very good knowledge of laws governing aviation but don't have practical exposure to aviation," Shapiro said. Integrating law with the practical features of aviation is an "important aspect for anyone involved with aviation law," he said.

In addition to touring the grounded facilities of the school the students were taken for a flight on an SIU airplane and the trauma center helicopter.

Shapiro said tours of aviation facilities are needed because students interested in aviation law don't have an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the practical and technological features of the field.

John Gunther, an Australian law student, said "a few lawyers in America do have some technical background—through choice, not through a special program. Except for this most have no technical knowledge."

Much of an aviation lawyer's caseload is spend handling aircraft accident litigation which demands an understanding of the technical side of aviation, Gunther said.

The value of an aviation lawyer having some technical understanding of aviation recently was underscored during a debate on the legal aspects of a case dealing with the destruction of a Libean airliner by Israeli planes.

"We debated the case using very technical reports," he said. "We spent weeks looking up the technical terms before we could understand what we were talking about."

"It could've been a lot easier."

Campus Briefs

Robert L. Gold, professor of history, has been awarded the Arthur W. Thompson Memorial Prize in Florida history. The prize, which carries with it a check for $100, was given him for his article, "That Infamous Floridian, Jesse Fish," which was judged the best article in the "Florida Historical Quarterly," Vol. 52.

Rose Padgett, professor of clothing and textiles at SIU, attended the April 22 to 24 meetings of technical and administrative committees of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists, at the association's Technical Center, Research Triangle Park, N.C.

Miss Padgett is a member of a new advisory committee on audio visual education materials to be produced by the textile industry and disseminated by the association. She also is serving on several other committees on textile research matters.

Robert G. Laver, professor of economics at SIU has been awarded a Fulbright professorship to serve at the University of Tehran, Iran, according to Frank Rackerby, SIU Fulbright Program adviser.

Laver, who served as the University's chief executive officer from September, 1970, to January, 1972, (first as chancellor, then as president), has been chairman of the department of economics since 1955.

He has been granted a year's leave of absence starting in September, to accept the visiting professorship in Iran. In addition to teaching economics in the faculty of public and business administration at the Iranian university, he will act as a consultant and also will give a number of lectures elsewhere in the country.

This is his second Fulbright professorship. In 1960-61 he taught at the Bologna (Italy) Center of Johns Hopkins University's School of Advanced International Studies. In 1967-68 he held a Rockefeller Foundation Visiting Professorship at Thammasat University, Bangkok, Thailand.

A native of Detroit, Laver is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and holds both the master's and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University. Before coming to SIU he taught at Fairmont State College in West Virginia and at Texas A & M.

John Y. Simon, SIU historian and executive director of the Ulysses S. Grant Association, will be a guest at a May 8 dinner of the New York Civil War Round Table, which will present to him the Fletcher Pratt Memorial Award.

The award, named for a deceased distinguished author, is in recognition of Simon's achievement in editing "The Papers of Ulysses S. Grant," a 15-volume work that is being published by the SIU Press. The fifth volume is due off the press in October.

Several members of the Philosophy Department attended the annual meeting of the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association in St. Louis April 25 to 27 and participated in other conferences.

Professor Risieri Frondizi read a paper to the Personalist Society at the meeting entitled "The Self as a Dynamic Gestalt." Professor Lewis Hahn read a paper entitled "Does Philosophy Have a Future?" at a special session on the future of philosophy, and reported on the proceedings of the XVth World Congress of Philosophy in Varna, Bulgaria, held last September. Also attending the meeting were Professors Clarke, M. & E. Eames, Kelly, Mijuskovic, Plochmann, Schedler, Schilpp, and Singh.

Professor George McClure attended a meeting of State Committees of the National Endowment for the Humanities April 29 to May 1 in Washington, D.C.

Professor Garth Gillan participated in the Symposium on Hermeneutics and Critical Theory held at Boston College on April 26. Gillan was a member of a general discussion panel on the subject of the symposium.

Vincent Wasilewski

NAB head to address seminar

By Greg Vertrees
Student Writer

Vincent Wasilewski, president of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB), will deliver the keynote address to a broadcasting seminar Tuesday in the Student Center Auditorium.

Several area broadcasters will take part in the seminar sponsored by the Illinois Broadcasters Association.

John Kurtz, professor in the Department of Radio-TV, said the purpose of the program is to bring students in contact with professional broadcasters. He said the public is invited to the panel discussions without charge.

Registration begins at 8:15 a.m. in the Student Center Auditorium lounge.

Wasilewski will address a general session at 8:45 a.m. Two panels will be conducted in the morning. "News and Public Affairs" will start at 9:30 a.m. and the "Regulation and Ascertainment" panel will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Regina O'Neil of the Center for Instructional Technology at Wayne State University and a free-lance producer at WTVS, Detroit, will speak during the luncheon in Ballroom B of the center.

Robert Henley, formerly of Du Quoin and vice president and general manager of WGN radio in Chicago, will participate in a "Programming and Production" panel at 1:30 p.m. Joseph Costantino from Sesser also will be in the panel. He is currently vice president and general manager of WRTN radio in Wood River.

The final panel on "Sales" beginning at 2:30 p.m. will include Dale Adkins of WINI radio, Murphysboro. The seminar will conclude at 3:30 p.m.

Kurtz said all panels will be open to discussion from the audience.

Mayor Daley in hospital

CHICAGO (AP) - Mayor Richard J. Daley was admitted to a hospital Monday, suffering from a blood condition which causes fatigue.

Daley, 71, who began his 20th year as mayor last month, was taken to Rush-Presbyterian-St. Lukes Hospital after consulting with his physician, Thomas Coogan Jr.

Frank Sullivan, Daley's press aide, said the mayor was "resting comfortably," and chatted with members of his family while awaiting further tests.

A hospital spokesman said it will issue no report on the mayor's condition until the tests were completed.

The spokesman said the mayor was suffering from hypoglycemia, a deficiency of sugar in the blood which causes weakness.

Daley complained of illness while at his City Hall office and asked for an appointment with Coogan, Sullivan said.

After an examination, Coogan accompanied the mayor to the hospital in Daley's limousine. The mayor walked from his car into the hospital.

Daley was examined in the emergency room before he was admitted to a private room.

Daley has been mayor of Chicago longer than any other man and was expected to seek a sixth, four-year term in 1975.

His health generally was regarded as good.

After his election as mayor in 1955 until the mid 1960s, Daley's political power as leader of Illinois Democrats was unchallenged.

His national prestige reached its peak when his army of patronage workers helped deliver the state by a narrow margin which put John F. Kennedy over the top in the 1960 presidential election over Richard Nixon.

Daley also supported Lyndon Johnson for president and Hubert Humphrey's losing bid to Nixon in 1968.

Daley was criticized during the tumultuous 1968 Democratic National Convention for clashes between police and thousands of youthful demonstrators who converged on the city to protest against the Vietnam war.

He has always defended his actions in 1968.

Daley was less than enthusiastic over the 1972 presidential candidacy of Sen. George S. McGovern. Party rules proposed by McGovern and his supporters led to the unseating of Daley and 58 other delegates at the party's national convention in Miami Beach.

Recently, his party organization has suffered some local election losses and has been hit with several criminal indictments.

Former Gov. Otto Kerner and former County Clerk Edward J. Barrett were convicted on charges of bribery. Alderman Thomas E. Keane, another close political ally, and Earl Bush, Daley's former press secretary, are awaiting trial on other charges.

There also have been published reports that Daley's sons have benefited from business dealings involving city contracts and have received special treatment when taking state licensing examinations.

Findley wants to tax income from bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Paul Findley (R-Il.) said Monday he is introducing a tax reform measure which would impose a 20-per-cent minimum tax on persons who have avoided paying any taxes because their income is derived from tax-exempt municipal bonds.

"Such bonds, although they are quite important to the financing of local government, have become an unconscionable tax haven for many wealthy citizens," Findley said. "This bill would not eliminate the usefulness of these bonds to governments, but it would require that a minimum tax of 20 per cent be paid on income from them."

Findley said his bill also would simplify the tax code for the average American by providing a realistic standard deduction.

In 1970, he said, the average American who itemized came up with a total of $2,500 in deductions on a median annual income of under $12,000.

Irish revolutionary charged on five counts for big art theft

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Bridget Rose Dugdale who left a background of wealth and social prominence to become a revolutionary, was charged here Monday on five counts in a $20 million art theft.

Miss Dugdale, 33, also was charged with possessing explosives and firearms in County Donegal on Jan. 24, the day of an attack by the outlawed Irish Republican Army on a border police base from a hijacked helicopter. County Donegal is a turbulent sector of the Irish Republic's border with Northern Ireland and a major base for IRA guerrillas.

Miss Dugdale was ordered held in custody until May 17.

The daughter of an English insurance magnate who has a doctorate in philosophy, Miss Dugdale was driven under heavy guard to the court from County Cork where she was arrested Saturday after police found the stolen paintings at a country cottage. The court in downtown Dublin was set up last year to try suspected terrorists involved in the sectarian war between Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland.

Miss Dugdale refused to answer when asked if her name was Bridget Rose Dugdale or if she wanted bail.

But as she left the courtroom she said, "The British have an army of occupation in a small part of Ireland-but not for very long."

Nineteen paintings were stolen by four men and a woman April 26 from the home near Dublin of Sir Alfred Beit, diamond and gold millionaire, and included masterpieces by Rubens, Goya and Velasquez, police said. Police had a nation-wide dragnet out Monday for the four men.

Miss Dugdale made an inaudible reference in court to Dolours and Marion Price, two sisters from Northern Ireland who are serving life sentences in England for terror-bombings in London last year.

A ransom note purportedly from the gang that stole the paintings demanded that the Price sisters be transferred to Northern Ireland prisons to serve their sentences.

Heart screening planned Wednesday

The Health Service will conduct a second free heart disease screening for all faculty, staff and students from 1 to 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The screening will be held at the Minor Care Clinic, 304 E. Stoker St. The screening will be open only to students 21 or older because an accurate reading isn't possible for persons younger, said Joan Wall, staff assistant in the Health Service.

The purpose of the screening isn't to diagnose heart disease but to detect any abnormality in the heart, Ms. Wall said. She said the Illinois Heart Association, which is cooperating with the screening, stresses that the screening program isn't recommended for persons already under treatment for a heart condition.

Persons who show unfavorable results are advised to see their personal physicians, Ms. Wall said. The results of the screening tests are confidential.

The program takes approximately 10 minutes, she said. The second screening is offered for persons who are unable to participate in the first screening.

Persons screened are asked to give their height and weight, have their blood pressure taken and have a cardiometer reading taken.

County board picks Pomona democrat as new chairman

By Dave Ambrose
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

Reginald 'Bo' Stearns, a Democrat from Pomona Township, was elected chairman of the Jackson County Board in a reorganizational meeting at the courthouse in Murphysboro Monday.

Stearns, who has served on the board since 1959, was favored to win the position when a Democratic majority was sworn in Monday. It is the first time Democrats have held the majority in about 40 years.

Stearns was elected by acclamation. Sue Casey, a Democrat from District 6, was elected vice chairman, also by acclamation.

There were no other nominations for either office.

April's board election put the Republicans in an 8-6 minority when Democrats swept six of the seven positions up for a vote.

Stearns appointed Democrats to chair all but one of the nine committees he appointed Monday.

Ross appointed

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Leonard Ross, a Rock Island chiropractor and former state representative, was named a member of the Illinois Civil Service Commission Monday.

Gov. Daniel Walker announced the appointment of Ross, 58, a Democrat, to the $4,000 a year job with the three-member commission. The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Republican Charles Gray, former board chairman, will head the Legislative Committee.

All other committees now carry Democratic majorities after Stearns' appointments. The Legislative Committee is equally divided between Republicans and Democrats. Stearns' appointments are as follows:

Finance Committee: Louise Wolfe (D), chairman; Bill Kelley (D); Hazel LeFevre (D); Douglas Eriksen (R) and Gray (R).

Health and Safety: LeFevre (D), chairman; Casey (D); Tress Pierson (D); Mary Nell Chew (R) and Gray (R).

Buildings and Grounds: Kelley (D), chairman; Eugene Chambers (D) and Noel Stallings (R).

Road and Bridge: Wolfe (D), chairman; Casey (D); Pierson (D); Russell Marshall (R) and Mary Miesner (R).

Nursing Home: Chambers (D), chairman; LeFevre (D) and Chew (R).

Assessments and Planning: Casey (D), chairman; Matthews (D); Wolfe (D); Eriksen (R) and Miesner (R).

Judicial and Law Enforcement: Matthews (D), chairman; Wolfe (D) and Marshall (R).

Legislative: Gray (R), chairman; Kelley (D); Chambers (D) and Stallings (R).

The board will conduct a business meeting Wednesday after the newly appointed committees have had time to meet and familiarize themselves with committee functions.

Thirteen of the 14 board members attended Monday's reorganizational meeting.

JFK Library plans revision because of design opposition

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The long-delayed John F. Kennedy Library, once envisioned as a massive complex dominated by a glass pyramid, is being redesigned because local residents complained it would be too grandiose.

The original plans, unveiled in an elaborate ceremony one year ago, have been quietly set aside in favor of a vastly scaled down version, library officials said in interviews.

The new plans, due to be completed next month, call for a library that is smaller, lower and more open, architects said.

The seven-story pyramid-shaped reception area is gone, along with a long crescent wing that would have enclosed it on three sides, they said. There will now be two buildings instead of one connected complex.

"The library building is lower and sort of less dramatic and monumental," said Daniel Fenn, a former Kennedy aide who is director of the library.

The library is to be built on a former subway yard across the street from Harvard University. Residents fear that it will draw millions of tourists into an already congested commercial area.

"Their concern was one of the main reasons that the redesign took place," said Donald Moulton, assistant vice president for community affairs at Harvard.

The building was "an architectural attraction that could draw more people to see it than would simply come for its content," Moulton said. "That doesn't mean people here want an ugly building.

They just thought it was a bit overpowering."

Asked if the intense neighborhood opposition had an effect on the new plan, I.M. Pei, the architect said, "Of course. I think their input has been duly noted."

Pei declined to describe the new complex, except to say, "The building is smaller. There is more open space and less volume."

It will be constructed of brick and concrete and be about the same height as the four-story Harvard dormitories nearby, he said.

The library has been delayed for the past 10 years by controversy over where to relocate the subway yard that it will occupy.

Last year, planners said it should be ready in 1976, but now, Pei said, "It's going to be much delayed."

Student volunteers sought to aid in Special Olympics

By Charlotte Jones
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

More than 1,000 volunteers are needed to help in the Southern Regional special Olympics for handicapped children Friday.

A meeting to prepare volunteers for the all-day event is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Home Economics lounge.

Only about 200 students are signed up to help in the annual events to be held at Bleyer Field behind Carbondale Community High School.

"We're counting on a thrust of student volunteers to come out and help between their classes Friday," Carol Spiller of the Special Olympics committee said.

A shuttle bus will leave every 30 minutes from the Student Center. Students who need transportation to the field are to meet between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. in Ballroom B.

About 1,300 children are expected to participate in the games, compared to 750 children last year. The games are specially designed for the mentally handicapped.

"About 700 volunteers worked last year so we estimate we'll need 1,000 volunteers this year," Ms. Spiller said.

Students are needed to help sell at concessions and start, judge and record statistics for the events.

"And a lot of students are needed to dress as clowns," Ms. Spiller said.

"Ideally, there will be one volunteer at the finish line for every participant. The children are so proud of themselves and need someone to cheer them on," she said. "It will take a lot of volunteers."

The events are open to all mentally handicapped children eight years and older from 37 southern counties in Illinois.

Jim Hart, quarterback for the St. Louis Cardinals, will serve as head coach. Bill Story, offensive guard for the Kansas City Chiefs, and Sam "Boom Boom" Wheeler, a 14-year veteran of the Harlem Globetrotters, also will assist with the events.

Opening ceremonies will begin at 9 a.m. with a parade of the athletes led by Ronald McDonald and the SIU-C Reserve Officer Training Corps Honor Guard.

The Anna-Jonesboro High School band will play at the opening ceremonies, during which a runner will carry the traditional Olympics torch.

Carbondale Mayor Neal Eckert, Murphysboro Mayor Bruce Raymond, congressional candidate Paul Simon and state Sen. Kenneth Buzbee will make many of the medal presentations.

Participants will be from public and private schools, institutions, shelter care homes, vocational schools and specialized services.

Special clinics will be offered to the participants during the day including football, basketball, golf, volleyball, rugby and gymnastics. The clinics will be conducted by members of SIU athletic squads.

The event is sponsored locally by the Southern Regional Special Olympics committee in conjunction with the Recreation Department. On the national level, the Games have been sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation since 1968.

Puppet shows are scheduled throughout the day and a model airplane exhibit by Fletcher Hartline of Carbondale is set for 12:15 p.m.

Refreshments, including lunch, have been contributed by local merchants and distributors.

For information, contact Val Silvy at 453-4331.

Calley case is studied

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—A federal judge took under advisement Monday a ruling on whether William L. Calley Jr., now a civilian, should remain free on bond.

However, Judge J. Robert Elliott indicated strongly that he would continue Calley's bond when he told government attorneys who sought to revoke Calley's bail that he found ample legal precedence for continuing it.

Elliott also named June 24 as a date for the hearing on the merits of Calley's petition which challenges his conviction for murders at My Lai.

Calley, 30, was given a dishonorable discharge from the Army Saturday, soon after President Nixon decided to uphold his twice-reduced sentence to 10 years imprisonment.

The former Army lieutenant, clad in an off-white suit and appearing tanned and trimmer than he did Feb. 27 when the same judge freed him on bond, did not testify at the hearing in U.S. District Court.

Despite the fact that he is now a civilian, Calley is still subject to his court-martial conviction of March, 1971 for the massacre of 22 Vietnamese civilians.

If Elliott denies Calley's petition seeking a reversal of his conviction, Calley would be returned to Army confinement. But he also would be eligible for parole after less than six months of additional imprisonment.

He had been under house arrest at his bachelor apartment at nearby Ft. Benning for nearly three years.

Disaster group seeks area help

The Student Environmental Center (SEC) is seeking volunteers for its newly formed Environmental Disaster Division.

SEC President Jeff Kolp said the division will train students to act as coordinators for campus living centers in case of natural disasters.

He said volunteers would be offered courses on first aid and relief techniques for disaster victims, and would aid persons in areas which have been hit by floods or tornadoes.

Persons interested should contact the SEC at the Student Government office.

Market production of 'LUV' dishes out humor for dessert

By Julie Titone
Daily Egyptian Staff Writer

All you need is "LUV."

All you need for a good evening's entertainment, that is. And Marion's Market Street Theatre is serving up more than Murray Schisgal's Broadway comedy hit "LUV." Dinner is included with the play.

"LUV" opened last weekend. Its setting is the Brooklyn Bridge where, to quote the Market Street program, "three characters meet and proceed to try and solve their problems by involving themselves in a comic triangle of misunderstanding and absurd adventures."

The production, directed by Robert Gottlieb, was well-cast. The three performers were called upon to deliver large doses of humor, ranging from slapstick to wry, and they delivered it well.

Arthur Langan portrayed Harry Berlin, a man who had been a success in college but went on to question the meaning of life and eventually contemplate jumping off the bridge. Langan's role included a great deal of pantomime, and he handled the body language exceptionally well. He faked several different afflictions. When his body became stiff as a board in one scene, the audience was also paralyzed—with laughter.

Jan Vest took the part of Milt Manville, the old college friend who tries to talk Berlin out of suicide and solve his own problems in the process. Vest was good as the slick Manville, executing some amazing fast-talk almost flawlessly.

Vest and Langan were at their best during the scene in which they swap stories of childhood poverty, each trying to out-exaggerate the other.

Eileen Conlan plays Ellen Manville, who is—on and off—the "LUV" in both men's lives. Conlan displayed an array of facial and vocal expressions, delivering lines with the tones of an analyst one minute, the Wicked Witch of the West the next.

"LUV" was a good choice for the Market Street Theatre's first show. It is light after-dinner fare which doesn't insult the intelligence of adults or bore their children. Its simple stage requirements and small cast fit well into the theatre's ballroom setting.

This review must include comment on the meal. It was an unusually good buffet. But (to accommodate those who expect at least one negative criticism) the chicken was not as good as the roast beef.

And a final comment to the management of the area's first dinner theatre: Keep up the professionalism, and good luck.

Student union to meet tonight on job plans

An organizational meeting of the newly-formed Student Workers Union (SWU) will be held at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Old Baptist Foundation Building.

The meeting, according to Maurice Richards, group organizer, is an attempt to unite student workers concerned about the possible cutback of student jobs or hours due to the increase in student pay.

Richards said the University will need about a $750,000 increase in next year's budget to compensate for the increase, adding "students should organize now; next fall will be too late."

The meeting is sponsored by the Black Affairs Council (BAC), the Tea Party and the Young Workers Liberation League. For more information, interested persons should call Maurice Richards at 549-7873.

Hundreds of American students placed in RECOGNIZED OVERSEAS MEDICAL SCHOOLS through Euromed!

For the session starting July, 1974, Euromed will assist qualified American students in gaining admission to recognized overseas medical schools.

And that's just the beginning.

Since the language barrier constitutes the preponderant difficulty in succeeding at a foreign school, the Euromed program also includes an intensive 12-16 week medical and conversational language course, mandatory for all students. Five hours daily, 5 days per week (12-16 weeks) the course is given in the country where the student will attend medical school.

In addition, Euromed provides students with a 12-16 week intensive cultural orientation program, with American students now studying medicine in that particular country serving as counselors.

Senior or graduate students currently enrolled in an American university are eligible to participate in the Euromed program.

You're serious about photography. So is the Canon F-1.

To you, photography is more than a hobby. You may never want to become a professional. Yet, your photography is as important a means of self-expression to you as your speech. You demand the same excellence in your photographic equipment as you do of your photographic skills.

The Canon F-1 is the camera that can fulfill any photographic task to which you put it. It can stand up to your ability in any situation.

Naturally, a great camera like the F-1 won't ensure great results. That's up to you. Yet—it's nice to know that your camera can grow with you as a photographer.

Part of the reason for this is the F-1 system. Since it was designed in totality, it offers total performance. There is nothing "added on" in the F-1 system. Everything works as it was designed to, and integrates superbly with everything else. You'll spend less time worrying about operating the camera than in shooting. And that's what creative photography is really all about.

Controls fall into place under each finger. It's no accident. Professionals who depend on a camera for their livelihood have a deep regard for the F-1's handling. It's amazing how much a comfortable camera can improve your work.

Sharing these lenses and many of these accessories are the new Electronic Canon EF, with fully automatic exposure control, the FTb, now improved with all exposure information visible in the finder, and the TLb, great for a second camera body or for getting started in Canon photography. Canon. For serious applications. For serious photographers.

Isn't it time you got serious?

Farm group fined $5,000 for illegal campaign funding

By Donald Sanders
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers of Allentown, Pa., was fined $5,000 Monday after pleading guilty in U.S. District Court to making an illegal $50,000 contribution to President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Lehigh Valley is a dairy cooperative but not one of the three giant cooperatives recently mentioned in connection with milk fund contributions and a boost in dairy price support prices in 1971.

A Pennsylvania corporation, it represents 950 shippers in eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland.

The fine of $5,000 imposed by U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart

Jr. is the maximum allowed by the law.

This was the 10th firm to plead guilty to making campaign contributions from corporate funds, which is barred by law.

Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski charged only the corporation and no individual officials in the Lehigh Valley case. The guilty plea was entered by James Rosenberg, an attorney for the cooperative.

Jaworski said the contribution was made between April 19 and April 27, 1972, in violation of the U.S. code.

Richard L. Allison, then president of the $80-million-a-year cooperative, denied more than a year ago allegations that the firm's money went to buy silence for the Watergate conspirators. He said the money went to a lobbyist to buy "prestige speakers" for a planned banquet.

Allison was ousted as president three weeks ago. Chester S. Dutton, administrative vice president, said the firing was not related to the donation, but declined to give a reason.

The company issued a statement Monday saying its directors never had approved any political contribution, but that $32,000 for banquet speakers and possibly $15,000 additional was channeled to the Committee to Re-Elect the President. The directors said they have asked that the money be returned.

These other corporations have pleaded guilty to similar violations: Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., Braniff Airways, Gulf Oil Corp., Ashland Petroleum Gabon, Inc., Phillips Petroleum Co., Carnation Co., Diamond International Corp., and American Airlines.

Minnesota Mining was fined $4,000 and each of the other firms $5,000. In most of the cases an individual corporation officer was also fined.

Northrop Corp., was fined $5,000 after pleading guilty to making an illegal campaign contribution by a contractor. Two officers were fined also.

TWA speaker says fuel tops airlines' concerns

Airline fuel prices have bumped out customer convenience as the most important factor in airlines thinking, said Alfred E. Jordan, vice president of technical affairs at Trans World Airlines.

In 1973 the average price of domestic and international jet fuel was 11 cents a gallon, Jordan said. Current jet fuel prices are 25 cents for domestic and 48 cents for international.

Jordan was addressing the 10th annual Aviation Fraternity Banquet sponsored by the Sigma chapter of Alpha Eta Rho. The banquet was held Saturday night at the Ramada Inn.

Jordan saw three possible solutions to offset the rising fuel prices.

He said the airlines could ask for government subsidies, pool routes or raise fares.

Government help is being sought,

Jordan said. Pooling existing routes would be the best solution for customers and the airlines, Jordan said. Two or more airlines using the same routes could combine services and not reduce the number of flights too drastically.

In addition to Jordan's talk, there were four awards given. Jordan, Joe Fabick, president of Wings of Hope, and T. Richard Mager, SIU vice president of development and services, got plaques and honorary memberships in the fraternity.

The outstanding member of Alpha Eta Rho award was given to Alan Dowrick, an SIU senior in industrial technology.

The fraternity donated $750 and the SIU aviation faculty donated $200 to the Wings of Hope Charity. Wings of Hope provides assistance to people in countries around the world.

Walker gives proposals for 'zest, spice' at fair

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Gov. Daniel Walker proposed Monday to give the Illinois State Fair more "zest and spice" by adding bingo and harness race betting.

For years, Walker said, the fair has been losing money, prestige and attendance.

"I want a really successful state fair, one that will bring people from all over. The way to do that, I believe, is to make the fair fun, give all the people what they want, and make it exciting," he told a news conference.

Harness races are a traditional feature of the 10-day fair held each August in Springfield but betting has not been allowed. Quarter horses also are raced at the fair, but a spokesman for Walker said the governor is proposing harness race betting only.

Fire damage set at about $9,000

Fire caused an estimated $9,000 damage to a Carbondale house Sunday night, fire officials said Monday. The house, located at 514 S. Oakland St., caught fire shortly before midnight and burned for approximately 35 minutes before it was brought under control, fire officials said.

They said there was $7,000 damage to the building and $2,000 damage to the contents.

Investigating fire officials have not been able to establish the cause of the fire yet, they said.

The home is owned by Mack Martin.

Newsday awarded Pulitzer for stories tracing heroin

By Susan Everly
and
Malcolm N. Carter
Associated Press Writers

NEW YORK (AP)—Newsday was awarded the 1974 Pulitzer prize on Monday for public service. The Long Island newspaper was cited for its series tracing the chain of heroin from Turkey to city streets.

Sal Veder of The Associated Press won the feature photography award for "Burst of Joy," a picture of a reunion between a returning Vietnam prisoner of war and his family at Travis Air Force Base, Calif. It was the 12th time an AP photographer won a Pulitzer and the fifth time in the past six years.

The trustees of Columbia University decided not to award a 1974 Pulitzer prize for fiction or drama.

Other winners were:
General local reporting, Arthur M. Petacque and Hugh F. Hough of the Chicago Sun-Times; special local reporting, William Sherman of the New York Daily News; international reporting, Hedrick Smith of The New York Times; national reporting, James R. Polk of the Washington Star-News and Jack White of the Providence Journal-Bulletin.

Louis Sheaffer won the biography award for "O'Neill, Son and Artist," about the life of playwright Eugene O'Neill. It is his second volume of a two-volume work about the Irish author.

The history award went to Daniel J. Boorstin for "The Americans: The Democratic Experience," the last of a three-volume series.

Kennedy says he might run for president

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Monday he would like to be president and is giving some consideration to running in 1976.

He said that by late next year, and possibly earlier, "I'll make a definitive kind of a decision about my plans."

Kennedy, one of whose brothers was assassinated while president and another while running for president, said members of his family will not have a vote over his decision.

"No, they won't," he said in response to a question. "And they've indicated were I to make a judgment to run that they would support me."

Kennedy was interviewed on "Washington Straight Talk," a national public affairs broadcasting program, by Paul Duke.

Robert Lowell won his second Pulitzer prize for poetry. He was cited this year for "The Dolphin," a collection of poems. His first Pulitzer award was for "Lord Weary's Castle" in 1947.

The general nonfiction award went to the late Ernest Becker for "The Denial of Death" in which he sought to show that "the fear of life and the fear of death are the main-springs of human activity." The award came exactly two months after Becker died of cancer on March 6.

The music award went to Donald Martino for his nocturno, a chamber music piece performed for the first time at Alice Tully Hall, Lincoln Center, New York, in May 1973.

The annual awards were established by the late St. Louis and New York publisher Joseph Pulitzer who died in 1911. Winners are chosen by the Columbia University trustees on recommendations of a board composed of distinguished American newspapermen and the president of the university.

Foreign Language Day planned for Wednesday

By Judy Vandewater
Student Writer

The second annual "Foreign Language Day" is expected to bring more than 1000 Southern Illinois high school students to the SIU campus Wednesday. The event, sponsored by the Foreign Language and Literature Department, will be held in the river rooms of the Student Center.

Judy Aydt, co-chairperson of the organizational committee, said the large response was not anticipated. She explained only 400 students participated in last year's event.

The purpose of the event is twofold. "It will acquaint kids with the campus and promote the foreign languages," Ms. Aydt said.

Activities will begin with registration at 10 a.m. Hiram Lesar, acting president of SIU, will give the opening address. After orientation the students will have their choice of a variety of programs offered at half-hour intervals.

Students will have a chance to learn insults in French or German. Language introduction segments will be offered in Russian and Chinese. Slide shows, sing-alongs and travelogues will be included.

Closing date reset for art exhibition

The closing date of the Nicholas Vergette Memorial Exhibition at the Mitchell Art Museum, Mt. Vernon, has been changed.

The exhibit's final viewing day will be Friday, not Sunday, as announced in the Daily Egyptian. The date was changed after the Daily Egyptian went to press.

Hours at the Mitchell Art Museum are 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

There's no easy way for Charlie Nelson to become Dr. Nelson.

But there is a way to make it somewhat easier. Our way. The Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. It won't soften the demands of your professors, or those you make upon yourself—but it may free you from those financial problems which, understandably, can put a crimp in your concentration.

If you qualify, our scholarship program will cover the costs of your medical education. More, you'll receive a good monthly allowance all through your schooling.

But what happens after you graduate? Then, as a health care officer in the military branch of your choice you enter a professional environment that is challenging, stimulating and satisfying.

An environment which keeps you in contact with practically all medical specialties. Which gives you the time to observe and learn before you decide on your specialty. Which may present the opportunity to train in that specialty. And to practice it.

You may also find some of the most advanced medical achievements happening right where you work. Like at the Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, Texas, long noted for its Burn Treatment Center. Or the home of Flight-Medicine, the famed Aerospace Medical Division, also in San Antonio. Or the National Naval Medical Center in Bethesda, Maryland, recognized worldwide for its work in Medical Research.

And if you've read this far, you may be interested in the details. Just send in the coupon and we'll supply them.

Salukis rebound, clobber Murray 13-2

The Saluki baseball team rebounded from its nightmare in Normal as they clubbed Murray State 13-2 Sunday in a rescheduled single game at Abe Martin Field.

For the second time this year, Murray State has been rated nationally when they met the Salukis and twice it has rolled over and played dead in no-contest encounters. The Salukis did almost the same things when they dropped two of three games to a fired-up Illinois State team Friday and Saturday. The losses to Illinois State snapped SIU's win streak at 24 games.

Behind the pitching of Robin

Women's track team finishes tenth at Normal

The SIU women's track team spent too much time looking at Saturday's State Tournament and not enough on what was going on around them as the women tracksters stumbled to a 10th-place finish in Normal over the weekend.

Illinois State University ran away with the meet, netting 76 points. The Lady golfers slump to sixth in tournament

Kishwaukee Country Club in DeKalb proved to be a trying course for the SIU women's golf team as it slumped to a sixth-place finish with a team score of 449 during the State Golf Tournament Saturday.

Illinois State University captured first place in the 18 hole, par-73 tournament with a team score of 373. The University of Illinois was second with a score of 406. Western Illinois was third with 413 and host school Northern Illinois was fourth with a 425 total.

The bottom half of the seven-team field had Eastern Illinois finishing with a 445 total, SIU was next with 449 and Northwestern brought up the rear with a 460 total.

One of the bright spots for SIU was the performance of Sandy Blaha. She tied for medalist honors with Northern's Char McLeer at the end of regulation play. Blaha lost the play-off round to McLeer when she bogeyed the third hole.

SIU's Sarah McCree finished 11th in the state. Both Blaha and McCree were two of the top 10 golfers who made the championship class.

The women golfers will return to action May 17 when the Ohio IAAW Invitational gets underway at Bowling Green.

Cincinnati topped by Saluki netters

The SIU tennis team defeated 14th-ranked Cincinnati Saturday, 5-4, during a four-team meet in Knoxville, Tenn. Tennessee won the meet with 25 points, followed by the Salukis with 12.

Friday, the Saluki netters lost to Tennessee for the second time this year, 8-1.

The Salukis boosted their season record to 15-10 with a 7-2 victory over Middle Tennessee Saturday afternoon.

Tuesday, the Salukis take on the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Derry (4-1), SIU pounded out 12 hits including two triples by third baseman Bert Newman and Steve Shartzer's fifth homer of the season to dump the Racers. Newman's two triples tied him with several other players for the most three-baggers in a game.

Shartzer's blast carried deep over the left-center fence with a man on in the fifth.

Murray State left nine men on base during the six innings that Derry worked on the mound for the Salukis. Derry struck out two batters with the bases loaded to shake out of a jam in the fifth. He ended the University of Illinois was a distant second with 46 points, Chicago State was third with 33 and Western Illinois fourth with 24.

Eastern Illinois, Indiana State, Memphis State and Principia finished fifth through eighth with 18, 13, 12 and 11 points respectively.

The bottom third of the 11 team field was anchored by Augustana College with four points, SIU with two and Lewis College failed to score a point.

The high points for SIU were few and far between. Launa Morrison captured fifth place in the 400-meter hurdles with a time of 1:18.6. Kathy Dayiantis chopped 20 seconds off her time in the mile run and Debbie Reiss cut 10 seconds off her time.

In the two-mile run, Dayiantis sliced a full minute off her time. Kris Olson set a new team record for the discus with a toss of 93 feet, 9 inches.

The women tracksters will have the rest of the week to practice before SIU plays host in the IAAW Track and Field Tournament Saturday morning.

Saluki golf team ends season with sixth place finish

The SIU golf team finished its season Saturday by placing sixth in the eight-team Edwardsville Classic. SIU-Edwardsville won the meet with a team score of 303. SIU-C had 310.

"Throughout the entire season, this team always played its finest. We played against some of the outstanding teams in the country and we did well," Lynn Holder, golf coach said. "Some of those teams will probably be seen in the nationals."

"I am looking forward to those players who will be returning to our team next year."

SIU scores: Brad Miller, Mark Durham, and Larry Giaccone each had 77, Sean Murphy, 78, John Gulley, 79 and Hugh Frailey, 81.

day with eight strikeouts.

John Hoscheidt also had his bat in gear for SIU, collecting three hits and driving in three runs.

The victory pushed the Salukis' record to 33-7, following the team's disappointing showing at Illinois State.

After dropping an 11-8 single game Friday to the Redbirds, the Salukis split a Saturday doubleheader. An SIU rally fell one run short in the first game, as the team lost 6-5. Senior Rob Klass picked up his eighth win of the year, taking the Redbirds 3-1 in the nightcap.

Illinois State baserunners gave the Salukis a taste of their own medicine in Saturday's first game as they stole seven bases and drew seven walks.

The Salukis trailed 6-0 going into the final inning as they pushed five runs across the plate on only two hits. But Shartzer was called out on strikes with runners on first and third to end the threat.

Jim Bokelmann was tagged with the loss for the Salukis, his second against six wins.

In the second game, the tide turned as it was the Redbirds who had a rally stall in the final inning. With the bases loaded and one out in the seventh, Saluki reliever Ron Hodges got designated hitter Greg Sargent to bounce into a game-ending double play to avert SIU's first three-game losing streak since 1970.

Stan Mann put the Salukis on the scoreboard in the second inning with his second homer of the year to left field. Single runs in the third and fifth accounted for the rest of the SIU scoring.

"We are not that disappointed about breaking that streak," Saluki Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones said after the two losses in Normal. "I'm sure there were many things at Illinois State that we could have done much better, as the Redbirds forced us into some mistakes. Still, we hit the ball hard and we're excited about playing this week."

Jones and company will get that chance at 1 p.m. Tuesday when the Salukis host Eastern Illinois in a doubleheader. SIU will play Greenville College at 3 p.m. Wednesday in a single game.

Understanding Your Mind

It's important for you to understand your mind. Knowing how, and being able to better use your mind to make your own life better.

You can learn to expand your talents, improve your skills, develop your mental abilities, effect positive changes in your personality, and correct disturbing habits through understanding your own mind.

Man has yet to solve the mysteries of memory, learning and consciousness. The human mind is perhaps the last frontier in man's exploration of himself.

We teach a course called Silva Mind Control. You may have heard of 300,000 people from all over the world and from all over the world have taken the course. In the annual spring battle of Maroon and White, the White's made use of Fred McAlley's passing and a strong defense to outlast the Maroons, 11-3 Saturday at McAndrew Stadium.

"If I had to give the game a grade," Saluki football coach Doug Weaver said, "I'd give it a C-plus. Fortunately, we have several months to bring up our grade."

The two units in the finale to spring practice, combined to cough up 14 fumbles, eight of which resulted in turnovers. "I was extremely disappointed in our fumbles," Weaver said. "But we hit hard and Fred McAlley threw the ball well."

McAlley and Leonard Hopkins shared the signal-calling duties for the White team and combined to hit on 14 of 27 passes for 228 yards. Bruce Puhr and Bob Habbe were the main targets as the two pulled in all but one of the attempts.

About 500 fans saw shades of last season early in the first quarter when a high center snap sailed over the head of Maroon punter Scott Ellis and through the end zone for a two-point White team safety.

Ken Seaman, placekicker for both teams, sliced a wide field goal attempt later in the first quarter to prevent the Maroon team from taking the lead. But another try for the Maroons from the 27 gave them the lead, 3-2.

McAlley moved the White team to the Maroon 15 on passes to Habbe and Puhr and two running plays of his own. On first down, fullback Lawrence Boyd burned off left tackle to the endzone to give the White team an 8-3 lead. The extra point try failed.

The two units fumbled themselves out of field position back and forth into the third quarter when Hopkins moved the Whites into field goal range. This time Seaman clicked from the 26 to give the White team an 11-3 lead.

Although that ended scoring, McAlley and Hopkins continued to burn the Maroon secondary squad. Twice Hopkins had potential touchdown passes dropped near the end zone.

Boyd was the White team's leading rusher with 45 yards on 10 carries. Gary Linton picked up 74 for the Maroons and Steve Weathersby 62.

Salukiettes take four straight games in Southern Sectional tourney play

By Kenneth Pilarski

While performing inconsistently through most of the season, SIU women's softball teams proved they can perform in the clutch as both teams enjoyed doubleheader sweeps during the Southern Sectionals Saturday in Charleston.

The first team pulled game one out of the fire with a seventh inning home run for an 8-7 win over Illinois Central College. The second game went into the record book as a 7-0 win for SIU due to an injury to an Illinois State University player, forcing the Redbirds to forfeit the game.

SIU went into the seventh inning of the first game leading 7-4, when Illinois Central erupted for three runs in the top half of the inning to knot the score at seven each.

Pat Wenger gave the game to SIU as she connected for her first homerun of the season. Wenger led the Salukiettes offense with two hits and three runs scored.

Phyllis Addison was the winning pitcher for SIU. She gave up six hits and struck out four, while walking four. SIU equaled Central's hit total of six and committed six errors, while Central made seven.

The Salukiettes spread its scoring out with one run in the second and third inning; three runs in the fourth and one each in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings. Central pushed across one run in the fourth inning, three runs in the fifth and three in the seventh.

In the second game, the Salukiettes found themselves trailing 10-0 after two innings of play, but battled back to tie the score. SIU was trailing 12-10 in the sixth inning when the injury to the Redbird player occurred.

SIU coach, Kay Brechtelsbauer said she was glad for the win, but not the way they won. She would have liked to have seen the game completed because she felt the momentum was with SIU.

Maggie Massa was the winning pitcher in both games as the second team defeated Danville Junior College 21-13 and Illinois Wesleyan University 20-8.

Against Danville, the Salukiettes pounded out 22 hits and committed two errors. Jo Greenhoe led the SIU offense with five hits in five at bats and five runs scored.

The highlight of the game was a second-inning grand-slam by Susan Koska.

In the IWU game, SIU was led by Colleen Logan who had four hits in four trips, including a grand-slam in the seventh inning and Cheryl Fowler with four hits in five at-bats.

The game was a lot closer than the score would indicate as the Salukiettes had a slim lead 10-8 after six innings of play. But SIU broke the game open with a 10-run seventh inning.

Several trackmen set high marks at Champaign

By Bruce Shapin
Daily Egyptian Sports Writer

Sending a small contingent to the Illini-United States Track and Field meet, several SIU tracksters set personal high marks during Saturday's competition in Champaign.

Senior Tom Liesz and freshman Pat Cook set personal highs in their respective events. Liesz captured second in the javelin with a toss of 211-8, while Cook ran a 151.9 in the 880.

"I was pleased with Liesz and Cook," said Saluki coach Lew Hartzog. "That's the best Liesz has ever done in the javelin, Cook turned in an outstanding time for a freshman. Pat's a hard worker and has an unlimited future."

With cancellation of the Oklahoma State meet, participation in Saturday's meet was "strictly voluntary," Hartzog said. "With the Illinois Intercollegiate only a week away, some of our kids wanted to compete, but some of the others wanted a week rest," said Hartzog.

SIU graduate assistant Jan Johnson, who made the trip, won the pole vault with a 16.3 vault. Saturday marked the first time Johnson has vaulted in competition since he suffered a broken hand at the 1973 Southeastern Conference Indoor Championships.

Eddie Sutton turned in a fine time of 48.2 to finish first in the 440. "Sutton did a fine job Saturday," said Hartzog. "Now we can probably put Eddie back on the mile relay where he belongs."

Bill Hancock went 6-8 in the high jump to take home first-place honors. Hancock also competed in the pole vault, finishing fourth with a 14-6 vault.

The Salukis travel to Champaign Friday as a complete team, to take on the rest of the Illinois schools in the annual Illinois Intercollegiate.

Racquetballers end tournament

The intramural racquetball tournament was completed Saturday with Mike Dunn and Barbara Robinson defeating Walt Ellis and Brenda Verrett 14-21, 21-7 and 21-14 in the mixed doubles competition.

Last week, Ron York captured the singles competition with a 21-16 and 21-19 win over Barry Blonde. In the men's doubles, York and Blonde defeated Ellis and Dunn 21-14, 9-21 and 21-9.

Aquatic workshops planned by Red Cross, SIU group

The Department of Physical Education-Women and the Jackson County Red Cross Water Safety Division will sponsor two aquatic workshops beginning May 13.

The first course is for American Red Cross certification as an instructor of handicapped swimmers.

Class will meet at Pulliam Pool from 8 to 11:30 p.m. May 13, 15, 20 and 22.

Persons attending the workshop must hold current authorization as a Red Cross water safety instructor. Persons trained under different programs (YMCA, BSA, RN or Physical Therapy) may audit the course but cannot be certified upon completion.

Undergraduates may register for PEW 362 for two hours credit. Graduate students may enroll under PEM 404-1. Non-students must register through the Department of Continuing Education for a $5 fee.

The second course is for certification as an American Red Cross Canoeing Instructor at the boat dock on Lake-on-Campus from 4 to 7:30 p.m. May 14, 16, 21 and 23.

Undergraduates may register for PEW 348 for two hours credit. Graduate students may enroll in PEM 404-2. Non-students must register through the department of Continuing Education for a $5 fee.

Enrollees must hold a Red Cross basic canoeing certificate or have a strong background in canoeing.

All students must pass a swim test the first day of the course.

Bob McCarter, Red Cross area water safety programs chairman, will be the instructor for both courses.

For more information contact Julie Ilner 453-2296.
